"It was another year of intense and exciting competition for our Gold Show program," says CAA CEO Rob Smith. "Our members take great pride in their show cattle. The Gold Show program is a tremendous opportunity to display premium Angus genetics to fellow Angus producers, cattle folk from other breeds, beef industry influencers and the general public, both domestically and around the world.

"Canadian Angus has been running the Gold Show program for 28 years and every year our members come out in droves to support it. We decided to do something different this year and surprise the winners in their stalls to present them with their awards. It was a fun way to connect with our members and change our awards presentation," he adds.

The winners were recognized at Canadian Western Agribition in Regina, Saskatchewan on Friday, November 24. The Canadian Angus Association congratulates the winners and thanks all who participated in the Gold Show program in 2017. The 'All-Star' awards were first presented in 2012 making this year the sixth annual recognition.

The Gold Show program was developed in 1989 by the Canadian Angus Association to provide an incentive for breeders to move between regions to show cattle. Gold Show winners are determined by the animals that earned the highest number of points in three Gold Shows. If an animal accumulated points in more than three Gold Shows, the points from their best three shows were used in determining end-of-year awards.

The Canadian Angus Association is Canada's largest purebred beef breed organization. The Association represents more than 2,000 members across Canada for the purposes of registering and recording the pedigrees of purebred Angus cattle in the closed HerdBook and promoting the breed across Canada. The member-approved mandate is to maintain breed registry, breed purity and provide services that enhance the growth and position of the Angus breed.
